the artist...

Three Little Birds was founded by Ewoud Vandenberghe in the summer of 2012. Born in Leuven, Belgium, in 1988, Ewoud was introduced to reggae early on by his father. He has been listening to dub music since his early teens.

Occasionally supported by a couple of like-minded friends, Ewoud describes his music as “playful steppers”. He says that he is often influenced by favourite artists of his like Dougie Conscious, Aba-Shanti-I, Vibronics and fellow countryman Crucial Alphonso.

Three Little Birds' debut album was released by Dubkey Records in late June 2014.

the album...

Dubkey's first release for the summer is an all-instrumental album by Three Little Birds. All the tracks were composed, mixed and produced by Ewoud Vandenberghe, except 'Traces Of Sky Dub' which is a collaboration with Stefan Hendrickx.

These are Ewoud's first steps as a dub/steppers artist, and we are presented with nuff valid musical evidence here to predict that he has a great recording career in front of him. Bright melodies and plenty of memorable synth hooks decorate the tracks which are anchored by inventive drum beats and solid bass lines throughout.

This is another Dubkey top-quality debut album by a relatively unknown artist! Hear it now while it's fresh!
